Success with Older and Medically Complex Patients

Older and medically complex patients are the fastest growing patient demographic in the US. The entire dental team must be trained to meet the unique needs of these patients. Visual and/or hearing impairments can lead to misunderstandings between the patient and the dental team. Medical conditions such as stroke, cardiovascular disease, cancer, and Alzheimer's require alteration in "normal" dental treatment to assure a successful outcome. Root caries is a common and frustrating problem, requiring the use of the latest adult preventive protocols and restorative techniques. Millions of seniors are partially or totally edentulous, so there is a tremendous need for both esthetic and functional conventional and implant supported prostheses. Medication use for a variety of problems such as xerostomia, poor hemostasis, gingival overgrowth, and adverse drug interactions must be addressed.
